Brotherhood Chiefs, Opposing Further Reduction, Prepare Plans.

working rules were amended, most of them in favor of the railroads. The decision, which affects shopmen, was received by the union leaders with bitter comment.

"Time for talk has passed," said Bert M. Jewell, president of the Federated Shop Crafts.

Executives went on record in favor of early reduction of freight rates dependent upon further wage cuts. They also took occasion to criticize the Railroad Labor Board and all other governmental bodies which have power over the carriers.

"The issue whether railroad labor shall be a preferred class, fixing its own compensation without regard to the effect upon other interests, must be squarely met," said W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania. "In the long run, a fair adjustment is in the best interests of railroad employees."

"My judgment, therefore, is:

World Aid Agriculturalists.

"1. That the railroad of this country, in order to show their good faith, should make an adjustment in rates. This adjustment should go to the agricultural interests, inasmuch as they are by far the largest and most important element of our population, and have already themselves borne the brunt of the greatest deflation.

"2. That there should be an immediate application on the part of the railroads to the United States Labor Board for a reduction in wages commensurate with the change in wages in other industries.

"3. That the public should heartily into and assist the carriers in the request for a reduction in railroad wages.

"4. That the railroads should immediately pass on to the public in reduced rates whatever saving may hereafter be accomplished through reduced wages, except in so far as rate reductions already shall have been made.

"5. That the public should solidly stand behind the railroads in a program of laws and regulations which, while sound economically, shall yet not impair the initiative of railroad management."

Making good his threat to escape, Edward Leon Dick, 16 years old, of 1117 Sixth street northwest, made a successful dash for liberty yesterday when he was about to be taken to the National Training School for Boys, where he was sentenced in Juvenile Court.

E. J. Hickey, of the National Training School staff, was about to place the boy in a patrol wagon after coming from court when Dick broke away. He outdistanced the officer and disappeared through an alley leading to Fourth street.

Dick was arrested Wednesday by Headquarters Detectives Lynn and Stringfellow for his alleged connection with the robbery of nearly $100 from instructors at the Blake Public School and for a smaller amount at the Twining School. When taken into custody he told Detective Lynn he would escape if ordered confined to the National Training School, police say.

Henry Brown Floyd MacFarland, former president of the Board of Commissioners, and member of the law firm of Kenyon and MacFarland, died at 1:30 p. m. yesterday at his home, 1208 Eighteenth street northwest. He was 46 years old.

Having spent the summer at his country home in Canada, Mr. MacFarland returned to this city three weeks ago apparently in good health. Two weeks ago, however, he became seriously ill.

Cuno H. Rudolph, president of the Board of Commissioners, has ordered that the flag on the District Building remain at half-mast in Mr. MacFarland's honor.

Prominent in Law. Mr. MacFarland was an honorary member of the Canadian Bar Association. He was identified with civic movements, and at the time of his death was a member of the Washington Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, and the Near East Relief organization.

Born in Philadelphia in 1861, he came here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacFarland, at the age of 6. After studying law at Rittenhouse Academy and Columbia University, he entered newspaper work and served as reporter and bureau chief for the Boston Herald here.

The lad, according to the authorities, has admitted that he fired the houses "because he liked to see the blaze." The third blaze, for which he admits he was responsible, occurred Thursday when the bungalow owned by Dr. O. H. Wendt was wrecked.

Sheriff J. Stanley Gingle found the lad near the blaze, and upon questioning him secured his confession as to the firing of three of the numerous bungalows which were damaged by flames.

FUND FOR JOBLESS WILL BE RAISED BY D. C. COMMITTEE

Personnel Announced. Preparing for All-Winter Relief Work.

Five thousand dollars will be raised in the city by the citizens' employment committee to aid in bettering unemployment conditions in the District and increasing the personnel of the Public Employment Service at 1410 Pennsylvania avenue.

Of this $4000 was contributed yesterday and Secretary Charles J. Columbus, of the committee, expects to obtain the rest within a few days. Checks for the fund are to be made payable to Thomas Bradley, treasurer.

The committee at its meeting yesterday in the District Building explored "melodramatic stunts" and "unseemly displays" in the interest of the unemployed. The committee, of which Rudolph Jose is chairman, voted to continue its work throughout the fall and winter.

Centralization is Urged. Centralization of unemployment relief was urged by the committee, which recommended that no funds be given by the public for this purpose to any other organization. The unemployed, according to Secretary Columbus, are to make their wants known at the Public Employment Service, 1410 Pennsylvania avenue.

Consideration of the unemployment problem led the committee, according to Chairman Jose, to advise persons in other cities seeking employment in government service not to come to Washington.

Employers were urged in the committee's report to hire the more
